When I recorded an interview with Marco Mendoza on 3rd January he accidentally let slip the name of the new album from The Dead Daisies and we had to bleep it out when the Show was uploaded – <http://www.rockradioni.co.uk/interviews/3279-ni-rocks-interview-with-marco-mendoza.html> . This week the band have officially announced that the album will be entitled “Burn It Down” and that it will be released via Spitfire Music/ SPV on 6th April 2018. The new album will be the first to feature drummer Deen Castronovo of Bad English / Journey fame. Tour dates have also been announced, but unfortunately they don't include Belfast or Dublin. However, Marco Mendoza does play a gig in Voodoo, Belfast on 18th February with support coming from the Pat McManus Band.

"BURN IT DOWN" is a muscular tour-de-force, a tornado of pounding drums, pulverizing bass, screaming guitars and in-your-face raw vocals. Evoking the best of 70s Rock, with moments of Birmingham's finest, blended with the early works of Boston's best, "Burn It Down" will do just that: Burn down everything in its path until there is nothing left standing.

Recorded in Nashville with Marti Frederiksen at the helm, the band finished their 4th studio album "Burn It Down" in December, with Anthony Focx once again handling the mix and mastering legend Howie Weinberg adding his magic.

John Corabi about the new record:

"I'm extremely excited about our new record "BURN IT DOWN"! It was a pleasure to once again work with Marti Frederiksen and the band on what I believe is the next great step in The Dead Daisies journey. This is a balls-out old school rock record!!! Enjoy it, and see you all on our massive 2018 world tour!!!! Peace,Crabby"
